

INVITATION TO NATUREWATCH WEBINAR

Wednesday April 1, 2015 - 7PM TO 8PM EDT

Colleague -

You are invited to the NatureWatch webinar on Wednesday April 1, 2015 from 7pm to 8pm eastern.

Hosted by Nature Canada, the webinar is designed to let Canada's nature community know about the NatureWatch citizen science initiative.

The new and improved NatureWatch website www.naturewatch.ca was launched in November 2014; we want to encourage naturalists and nature lovers to go online and start recording their observations under the PlantWatch, FrogWatch, IceWatch and WormWatch programs.

Dr. Robert McLeman of Wilfrid Laurier University will be the guest speaker at the webinar.

Nature Canada and Environment Canada launched NatureWatch in the 1990s. In 2011 under the Dr. McLeman's leadership, responsibility for NatureWatch was transferred to the Department of Geography at the University of Ottawa. Nature Canada remains a lead partner in NatureWatch together with the David Suzuki Foundation and the two universities.

It would be awesome if a representative of your organization would participate in the webinar, and if you could help us spread the word.

Please RSVP by going onto the event page here:

<https://plus.google.com/events/ci8a4iiseqvcuntqp7a44nu9rf8>. If you have any questions about the event, please contact Sam Nurse by email: snurse@naturecanada.ca or phone 613 562- 3447.

I hope you can join us!

Stephen Hazell

naturecanada.ca

Stephen Hazell M.Sc. LL.B.

Director of Conservation and General Counsel

Directeur de conservation and avocat général

shazell@naturecanada.ca

613-562-3447 ext. 240 | 1-800-267-4088

300-75 Albert Street, Ottawa, ON K1P 5E7

Celebrating 75 years as Canada's voice for nature. Join us today!